To: Our valued storage customers

Re: Dell's ongoing commitment to our storage business

With the recent announcement of the proposed combination of Dell and EMC, I want you to know that Dell is fully committed to your success and to all of our products and solutions.

Dell has the most comprehensive storage lineup in our history, and we will continue to both enhance and support all our storage and enterprise offerings. We are committed to ensuring that you get long-term returns from your investments in Dell and that you have a clear path forward to new technologies, much like we are doing with the Dell SC Series.

The combination of Dell and EMC will make Dell an enterprise powerhouse, and you, our customers, will be the winners. I'm proud of the storage portfolio the team has built and look forward to working closely with you as we further strengthen our capabilities to support your enterprise storage needs.

For more details on the proposed transaction, please read my open letter at dell.com/futurereadydell. Thank you for your business and the trust you place in Dell.

All the Best,
