mobilegs

Designed to be a better crutch

Mobi MobiNot

Conventional crutch use may result in injuries, such as damage to the long thoracic nerve or collapse the wrist joint and is a common cause of irritation to the hand and under arm. Prolonged use may lead to arterial damage, potentially requiring remedial surgery.

What makes Mobilegs so good is what makes conventional crutches well, not so good.

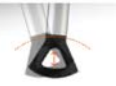

Upgrades
ONE CLICK TO MAKE THE BEST EVEN BETTER

Safety-Saddles™ pivot and rotate with the body. A pliable membrane sling provides support along with an additional 134° of shock absorption resulting in unparalleled comfort.

Ergonomic Handgrips contour to the hand, maintain a neutral wrist angle and evenly distribute load across the palm.

Shock-dampened Ultra Rocker Feet with over-molded, long life synthetic pads are proven to increase ease of use, reduce shock and require less exertion. * Available soon.

2 Ultra Rocker Feet

Upgrade your Mobilegs now:
1. online at www.mobilegs.com
2. by calling 612.605.5898

Sizing your Mobilegs

CORRECT FIT IS EXTREMELY IMPORTANT FOR SAFE USE
Even if you've already been fitted, make sure your saddles and handgrips are set at the proper distance, as follows:

Saddle. Center post under armpit. Pinch saddle between arm and torso. Distance should be 1" (about two finger widths) below the armpit, with shoulders relaxed.

Handgrip. Place it so your elbow is flexed about 15 to 30 degrees—enough so you can fully extend your elbow when you take a step.

Length (top to bottom). The total extended length should equal the distance from your armpit to about 6" in front of your shoe.

ASSISTANCE IS REQUIRED
Do not attempt to adjust your Mobilegs alone.

FIT ADJUSTMENT PROCEDURE

Step 1
Adjust handgrip to floor distance while your elbow is flexed 15-30 degrees and the Mobilegs foot is planted on the floor about 6" inches in front of your toes.

Step 2
Adjust handgrip to saddle distance by keeping your elbow flexed about 15-30 degrees, adjust saddle to approximately one inch or two fingers short of the arm pit.
