Personal and Family Series

The Personal and Family Series of the McLuhan papers contains correspondence, diaries, notebooks, appointment books, memorabilia, and similar material relating to McLuhan's family and personal life. The series is arranged in four sub-series. The first is a series of material concerning McLuhan's mother, Elsie McLuhan. Second is personal and family correspondence of McLuhan's, followed by diaries, appointment books and daily journals, and memorabilia. Finally, there is a sub-series of articles written about McLuhan, arranged chronologically. These appear to have been compiled by McLuhan and his wife, Corinne McLuhan.

The Personal and Family Series comprises 3.02 metres in volumes 1 through 17.

Correspondence

The Correspondence Series of the H. Marshall McLuhan papers is arranged in four sub-series: the Nominal Correspondence, which contains the bulk of the correspondence and which is arranged alphabetically; the Fan and Crank Mail; the Invitations to Lecture, the first part consisting of chronological files arranged by event and the second part including requests to write articles, requests for employment and other miscellaneous queries; and the Recommendations correspondence. Although these series contain most of the correspondence found in the papers, it should be noted that there is substantial correspondence in the other major series. In particular, correspondence directly related to the writing and publication of McLuhan's numerous books, articles and essays remains in the Manuscripts Series, while some letters have been retained in the nominal and subject resource series. Researchers should consult these files in conjunction with the files found in the Correspondence Series.

Note: Within each file description, dates are provided in brackets. In the case of correspondence, where no date appears the researcher can assume that the dates of the items correspond directly to the "Date" column.

Manuscripts

The Manuscripts of the McLuhan papers are arranged in several series, two of which are further divided into sub-series. The first series is the Books Series, which contains manuscripts, notes, correspondence, a wide variety of resource material, and other documents relating to the writing and publication of McLuhan's book-length works. This series includes a number of unpublished works as well as the better-known published books and is arranged chronologically. The Books Series is followed by the Articles, which again contain both published and unpublished works. These files are also arranged chronologically. Two sub-series make up the Periodicals Series. These consist of documents relating to the Dew-Line Newsletter and Explorations, periodicals that were edited by McLuhan and to which he frequently contributed. Finally, there are three small sub-series, containing publishing files, material pertaining to a bibliography of McLuhan's writings, and several files of miscellaneous material.

"The Place of Thomas Nashe in the Learning of His Time" is the title of McLuhan's Ph.D. dissertation (Cambridge University, 1943). Most of the material in this sub-series consists of notes taken by McLuhan on small slips of paper. There are two sections of notes, arranged in alphabetical order, as well as miscellaneous note cards. A written manuscript and a bound copy of the dissertation are also available in this sub-series. Finally, there are 34 files titled "Nashe Revision," consisting of some correspondence, notes and photocopies relating to McLuhan's effort to re-work his thesis for the purposes of publication.

BOOKS

THE NEW AMERICAN VORTEX

This unpublished work is a collection of published and unpublished essays assembled by McLuhan ca. 1949. It appears that "The New American Vortex" was the intended title for the book, in addition to being the title of the lead essay. This sub-series consists of manuscripts and typescripts of the articles to be included in the work and a proposed table of contents. Although not all of the essays listed in the table of contents are here, many can be found in the Articles sub-series of the Manuscripts series.

BOOKS

THE MECHANICAL BRIDE

The Mechanical Bride sub-series of the Manuscripts series consists of manuscripts, notes and clippings that were used by McLuhan in the preparation of this book. The sub-series is divided into five parts. The first part contains manuscripts and typescripts titled Guide to Chaos and Typhon in America, as well as related notes and clippings. These manuscripts were earlier versions of what became The Mechanical Bride. The second part (volumes 64-65) consists of numbered and lettered files, each of which contain a short manuscript and accompanying clipping(s) that were to be used in the book. The numerical and alphabetical filing system used was McLuhan's. This filing system is duplicated in the third section (volumes 65-66), which consists of drafts which were sent to McLuhan's editor and were ultimately rejected. Several un-numbered files not used in the final draft of the book are also included in this section. Part Four (volumes 66-67) contains typescripts, galley proofs of the final version, and a copy of the book while Part Five (volumes 67-71) consists of resource files on various subjects, some of which contain manuscripts as well as notes and clippings. The resource files are arranged alphabetically. Also in Part Five are several files of miscellaneous notes and clippings, two files of reviews and advance reviews, and correspondence concerning the work. The seven files of notes labelled "M-B" were originally found with McLuhan's notes on his Nashe thesis.

UNDERSTANDING MEDIA

The Understanding Media sub-series contains manuscripts, typescripts, correspondence, notes, galley proofs, and resource material relating to this 1964 publication. The sub-series is organized in seven parts. The first part consists of three drafts of Understanding Media, as well as the preface to the second edition of the book. Some resource material, in the form of correspondence and notes, is found in Part Two, along with correspondence relating to the publication of the book. Files relating to foreign publications of the book are also found here. Part Three consists of reviews of Understanding Media. Part Four consists of alphabetical resource files, which appear to have been used by McLuhan in the initial preparation of the book. Part Five, the second set of alphabetical files, contains much material that post-dates the publication of Understanding Media; McLuhan planned a revision of the book and it seems likely that he kept and added to resource files after the 1964 publication of the work. Part Six, the final set of alphabetical files, may have been created while McLuhan was at Fordham University in New York City in 1968.

Note: Parts Four, Five and Six are all distinct series and it is not clear whether these documents were in fact filed with McLuhan's Understanding Media material. Although there are documents in these files that may not pertain directly to the book, these groups of files have been placed in this sub-series because of the significant amount of manuscript material and supporting documents that obviously are relevant. The material in Part Four dates from 1953 to 1962 and may relate either to Understanding Media or to the earlier Gutenberg Galaxy while the material in Parts Five and Six may also have been used as resource material for Culture is Our Business.

Part Seven, the final group of files in the sub-series, contains numerous numbered resource files and other material, labelled "UMR" (Understanding Media Revised), used by McLuhan to prepare a revised edition of Understanding Media.

BOOKS

CULTURE IS OUR BUSINESS

This sub-series consists of manuscripts, typescripts, correspondence and resource material relating to the 1970 publication of Culture is Our Business. The sub-series is divided into five main parts, four of which reflect the stages in which the book was written. The first part contains numbered files corresponding to chapters of an early (ca. 1967) draft of the book. This part also contains typescripts of the book. The second part relates to a later draft of the book, a draft which corresponded more closely to the final version. Within these files, there are in fact two versions of the book. When possible, this has been noted as "(2)" for the later version. The third section of the sub-series contains typescripts of another draft of the book as well as a series of working files. These files appear to have contained revisions (ca. 1969) to the book. Part Four consists of the final version of the book (as it went to the printer), including galley proofs and corrections of the proofs. Each chapter has its own file, containing a typescript of the chapter along with editorial notes. The fifth and final part of the sub-series consists of miscellaneous resource material, mainly clippings, used by McLuhan in preparing the book. Included in this section is correspondence with publishers concerning the book and a file of reviews.

Note: Parts Five and Six of the Understanding Media sub-series also contain material that may have been used as resource material for Culture is Our Business.

FROM CLICHÉ TO ARCHETYPE

From Cliché to Archetype was published in 1970. This sub-series, which contains material relating to the book, is arranged in several parts. The first three sections consist of manuscript and typescript drafts. Part One is an early version of what eventually became From Cliché to Archetype. Like the book, these files/chapters are arranged roughly in alphabetical order. Part Three consists of later drafts of the manuscript. GREAT TOM

Great Tom is the title of an unpublished work about Thomas Eliot, produced by McLuhan in the late 1970s and 1980. This sub-series consists of three files of material written earlier by McLuhan that was probably intended for publication. Researchers should also consult the Eliot resource files in the Subject Files Series for additional material concerning Eliot.

The Explorations periodical emerged from the Culture and Communications seminar at the University of Toronto in the early 1950s and was intended as a vehicle for the creativity of the seminar's participants. Later, Explorations was published as a part of The Graduate, the alumni journal of the University of Toronto. It ceased to publish in 1972, when publication of The Graduate also ceased. The first part of this portion of the Periodicals sub-series contains original, edited typescripts and galley proofs of Explorations. Part Two is an alphabetical arrangement of submissions to the journal. Several resource files and correspondence make up Part Three while the fourth and final portion of the sub-series consists of issues of Explorations.

The University Series of the McLuhan papers contains three sub-series. The first sub-series, labelled the Centre for Culture and Technology sub-series, contains files relating to the establishment and operation of the Centre. Of particular note in this material are the files pertaining to the Weekly Open Seminars and the files relating to McLuhan's research projects. The second sub-series contains administrative files and teaching resource material regarding the University of Toronto's Department of English, where McLuhan taught for many years. Finally, there is a sub-series of student and course records for classes he taught through both the Centre and the Department of English of the University of Toronto.
