

Forbes Sound Money

September 10, 2020

Raise your hand if you are worried about what happens to the stock market after the presidential election in November? In order to allay your fears, or heighten them, Forbes reporter Sergei Klebnikov presents expert stock market predictions under four possible scenarios. In the meantime, the coming stimulus checks have stalled and our story below discusses realistic prospects for economic relief. Another enlightening story below explains why many of us feel as though the cost of living is rising despite the low inflation numbers touted by economists. Lastly, if you haven't begun using cash payment apps like Venmo or Zelle, Forbes Advisor analyzes eight of them including fees, transaction limits and transfer times.

Forbes Money Team

Retirement

What You Need To Know About The Donut Hole And Medicare Open Enrollment

DIANE OMDAHL

The Medicare Open Enrollment Plan begins October 15 and ends December 17. This is your opportunity to review your coverage for next year.

READ MORE

Novel Graphic: Euro Winning

Despite Covid-19's devastating effects globally, the market thinks Europe is doing a better job handling the pandemic than the United States.

Source: YCharts

Investing

A Biden Victory And Split Congress Is Best For Stocks, But Here's What Would Kill Markets After Election Night

SERGEI KLEBNIKOV

There may not be a clear winner the morning after the election. Nothing would be worse for markets.

READ MORE

3 Best Investment Tracking Tools For Retirement Savers

ROB BERGER

Managing multiple investment accounts doesn't need to be a headache. These three free investment tracking tools are the best at helping any investor manage their portfolio.

READ MORE

Dividend Investing During Covid: Expert Insights

E. NAPOLETANO

Here's what you need to know about the impact of the coronavirus on stock dividends so far—and how you can brace your portfolio and investing strategy for any market fallout.

READ MORE

10 Technology Growth Stock Ideas

CHARLES ROTBLUT AND DEREK HAGEMAN

This scoring system identifies growth stocks with the characteristics that lead to outperformance. Here are ten stocks this strategy selected.

READ MORE

Stimulus

Second Stimulus Update: GOP Bill Fails In The Senate. Will There Ever Be More Relief?

SARAH HANSEN

Stimulus checks, more unemployment benefits and money for state and local governments all hang in the balance.

READ MORE

No Stimulus Check? IRS Tells Non-Filers To Check The Mail To Find Out How To Claim One

KELLY PHILLIPS ERB

The Internal Revenue Service is beginning an outreach program to Americans who typically don't file federal income tax returns and may be eligible for an Economic Impact Payment (more commonly known as a stimulus check) but have not yet registered to receive one.

READ MORE

When $300 Federal Unemployment Supplement Begins In Each State

ROB BERGER

The $300 and $400 extra unemployment benefits authorized by Trump have started to go out in a number of states. The process has left many claimants wondering when they will see the boost in their unemployment checks. Here's data on all 50 states and the District of Columbia and the latest date on when the extra payments will be released.

READ MORE

Your Money

Why You Can't Make Ends Meet, No Matter How Low The Official Inflation Rate Is

ERIK SHERMAN

If inflation seems like a lie with the cost of living appearing to rise faster than the experts say, you may only be experiencing the gap between economic models and reality.

READ MORE

READ MORE

This email was sent to nshippers@forbes.com.

Sign up here for Sound Money.

If you no longer wish to receive these emails you may unsubscribe at any time. Please click here to view our privacy policy.

Forbes | 499 Washington Blvd | Jersey City, NJ 07310