

Supporting and partnering with the Reclaim Your Face campaign

<https://ReclaimYourFace.eu>

We're really pleased that you are interested in helping us to protect individuals, our public spaces and our democracies by banning biometric mass surveillance!

There are three main ways that you can get involved in addition to signing (and sharing with your friends and family) our major petition to the EU, the ECI "Civil society initiative for a ban on biometric mass surveillance practices", which you can find on our homepage:

- Become an 'amplification partner':
 - Our work so far is just the beginning, and we need lots of support to help us spread the word and the work throughout 2021. Whether you are an organisation or an individual, you are welcome to go ahead and share and promote the campaign in your channels without needing our permission. However, if you are able to commit to more structured amplification of our big Europe-wide actions, please email us at info@reclaimyourface.eu saying that you would like to be on the amplification list – and we'll send you more information about exactly what this will involve.
 - Remember to tag our official accounts on Twitter, Facebook, Mastodon and Instagram and use the hashtags #ReclaimYourFace #BanThisBS

- Become a 'supportive/consultative partner':
 - Want to be an official part of the Reclaim Your Face campaign? Then this option could be for you. Send us an email at info@reclaimyourface.eu (or directly to your national RYF contact) saying that you are interested in partnering, along with a bit more information about who you are, and we can set up a call or send over some more information to see if this option is right for you and right for us.
 - Supportive partners are publicly listed on our website as a campaign partner, and are encouraged to mention this on their website and in their communication channels. At certain times throughout the campaign we will ask you to get involved in specific activities, and we can also support/enable you to run the Reclaim Your Face campaign in your context. If you become a supportive partner, we will share a pack with more information to help you start campaigning.
 - Consultative partners are publicly listed on our website as a campaign partner, and are encouraged to mention this on their website and in their communication channels. Consultative partners help us to learn and expand the scope of our campaign in a variety of ways. They are useful for those with limited capacity but that still want to support and be involved in the campaign, or for those that can be involved in an advisory role.

- Become a 'strategic partner':
 - Strategic partners are the lead organisations driving the campaign, and for this reason, a higher level of commitment is required. We are particularly interested in this type of partnering with civil society organisations or community groups that work on or are interested in issues of tech/surveillance and how it relates to the full spectrum of human rights, racial justice and social justice issues. Again, drop us a line at info@reclaimyourface.eu if you are interested, and we would love to talk.

Not sure what is right for you, or need some more flexibility? We'd be happy to discuss this – contact the coordinators at info@reclaimyourface.eu or your national RYF point of contact (if you have already been in touch with one). Together let's reclaim our faces and public spaces!
