

Nursing Science Transforms

Featured Researcher

Improving Cardiac Outcomes with Arrhythmia Telehealth

Kathleen Hickey, EdD, FNP, ANP, FAAN

Dr. Kathleen Hickey, Associate Professor of Nursing at Columbia University School of Nursing and a nurse practitioner in the Division of Cardiology, leads transdisciplinary research and clinical practice focused on Adult Cardiology, Electrophysiology, Ventricular and Atrial Arrhythmias, and Genetics.

Dr. Hickey has conducted research on the use of remote cardiac technology to improve outcomes in high-risk cardiac populations. Her recent grant awards include an R01 from the National Institute of Nursing Research focusing on arrhythmia telehealth monitoring patients with atrial fibrillation.