Department of the Air Force Public Affairs Chief Master Sgt. Douglas W. Morrell Media Awards
Nomination Guidance for Calendar Year 2021

The Department of the Air Force Media Awards are named in memory of Chief Master Sgt. Douglas Morrell, a combat photographer who bailed out of aircraft three times, earned two Purples Hearts and a Bronze Star, and was held as prisoner of war during World War II.

Morrell's passion for production started at a young age when he shot and sold his first motion picture for $10 at age 12.

He joined the Army Air Corps in 1939, beginning a career that would go on to span three wars. In 1943, by then in the Army Air Forces, he was transferred to Africa and Italy, where he flew 33 missions as a combat photographer in B-17 Flying Fortress and B-24 Liberator bombers, hitting Germany, Italy, Hungary, Austria, Yugoslavia, France and Romania.

In March 1944, his B-24 bomber was disabled by anti-aircraft fire over Romania, forcing the crew to bail out. He evaded capture for 27 days, ultimately making his way to Italy.

In May 1944, while documenting his fifth raid against the oil refineries at Ploesti, his aircraft was disabled by anti-aircraft fire and Morrell bailed out as the aircraft exploded. He was captured by German troops upon landing and was held prisoner in Bucharest until released by the advancing Russian Army 4 ½ months later.

He was then sent to Tinian in the Pacific to document a "special" bomb drop over Hiroshima, Japan, but was not aboard the Enola Gay due to a last-minute decision. During a 3-month stay in Tinian, then-Staff Sgt. Morrell flew six B-29 Superfortress firebomb missions over Japan as practice for the raid on Hiroshima.

He later was assigned to the 509th Composite Group and sent to Kwajalein Atoll as a senior photographer to document the atomic tests at Bikini in the Marshall Islands. Morrell documented two devices set off during the test in Bikini lagoon.

Upon returning again to the U.S., he documented guided missile tests in the Sahara Desert in Africa for two months and Alaska for two more months. Morrell was voluntarily discharged from the Army Air Forces Feb. 12, 1947, seven months before the Air Force became a separate service from the Army.

Morrell returned to service with the Air Force in March 1952 during the Korean War. He served three years as lead and standardization first photo on RB/GRB-36 Peacemaker aircraft with the 99th Strategic Reconnaissance Wing at Fairchild Air Force Base, Washington.

He served as a loadmaster aboard C-124 Globemaster aircraft at Pinecastle Air Force Base in Orlando, Florida, for three months before pursuing a special assignment as an Air Force Advisor (Photo) to the Alabama Air National Guard in Birmingham for five years.

Morrell was then reassigned to the Air Photographic and Charting Service's 1365th Photo Squadron in Orlando as chief documentary cameraman until September 1963, when he was sent to the Panama Canal Zone to start a new detachment for coverage of Air Force activities in Latin America. He received commendations from three Latin American presidents for coverage of civic actions in their countries. Morrell arrived in Panama as a technical sergeant and left five years later as a chief-select.

He was assigned to Detachment 2, 1352nd Audiovisual Squadron, at Ent Air Force Base in Colorado Springs, Colorado, and was sent to Keflavik, Iceland, for three months to fly with F-102 Delta Dagger fighters intercepting Russian "Bear" aircraft over the North Sea. He documented a total of 24 intercepts (14 in one day) and was made an honorary member of the 57th Fighter/Interceptor Squadron.

Morrell was then assigned to the 601st Photo Flight at Korat Royal Thai Air Base, Thailand, in November 1968 as the Operations NCOIC and chief of Aircrew Standardization.

At age 50, he was on a mission over the Ho Chi Minh Trail in Laos when his aircraft was hit by anti-aircraft fire. Morrell and the pilot bailed out and were fired upon by the anti-aircraft gunners. He was picked up by a rescue helicopter nine hours after he hit the ground. After three months in the hospital at Clark Air Base in the Philippines, Morrell was reassigned to Headquarters Aerospace Audiovisual Service at Norton Air Force Base, California, where he served as chief of Aircrew Standardization for AAVS worldwide until he retired in 1974.

He returned to HQ AAVS in 1980 as a civilian, critiquing documentary projects and coordinating the Air Force combat documentation program.

During the next 15 years he conducted annual 2-day seminars on Combat Camera documentation techniques at each AAVS unit worldwide. He wrote operational regulations, including a comprehensive Combat Camera Documentation Techniques manual, the Combat Camera Basic Unit Supplement and supplements to Department of Defense and Air Force regulations and directives.

Chief Morrell managed the Military Cinematographer of the Year competition for the Department of Defense and was a leader in the establishment of the Military Motion Media Studies Program at Syracuse University that he managed for the Air Force.

Prior to his retirement in 1994 he was awarded the Combat Camera Lifetime Achievement Award and, on his retirement, the Air Force Outstanding Civilian Career Service Award. Chief Morrell died Sept. 2, 2017, at age 98 and is buried at the Riverside, California, National Cemetery.

Products created by service members who leave the DAF during the year may not compete. Personnel assigned to the Civil Air Patrol are prohibited from competing unless they meet the eligibility criteria stated above.

d. Individuals can enter a product in any award category as long as they carry one of the occupation specialties listed below.

e. Products produced by personnel assigned to “Stars and Stripes” newspapers are not eligible to participate. All non-appropriated fund (NAF) products and NAF personnel are also ineligible.

f. Products created by government contractor employees are not authorized to compete. Products produced with the assistance of government contract employees are eligible to compete in the MMAs. However, contractor employees will not be recognized individually for their contributions.

g. Local national employees performing a DAF public affairs function may compete in all categories open to DAF civilians, at the MAJCOM or lower level, that are commensurate with their assigned position description. However, no host-nation employee winner(s) will be forwarded to the DAF level of the MMAs. Host nation civilians are not allowed to compete at the DoD level and will be disqualified if forwarded to the DAF level.

h. Civilian employees assigned to combatant commands, defense agencies, DoD field activities, and joint task forces, must refer to the DMMA competition rules for entry information. The DAF will not judge civilian or unit awards from the Defense Media Activity, joint/unified commands, other defense agencies or joint task forces. U.S. government civilians assigned to the Defense Media Activity’s military production divisions are ineligible to submit their individual and unit entries to the Services’ competitions. DMA will judge these individuals and submit winners to the MMAs.

i. If a member was assigned to a different MAJCOM (or unit) in the awards year, it is the current unit of assignment that the person will submit through, regardless of time in the unit. It is the member’s responsibility to update the unit of assignment in DVIDS when PCSing or changing unit of assignment. If the unit of assignment is not updated, the member may be disqualified.

j. Air National Guard members and U.S. government civilian staff members assigned to Air National Guard units will enter individual and unit categories through the National Guard Bureau, which will, in turn, submit winning entries through the Services’ competitions. However, Joint Force Headquarters staff members will submit unit products produced at the state level through the Defense Media Merit Awards competition sponsored by the Defense Media Activity.

k. Reserve members will enter through their respective Service competition.

l. Deployed personnel. For the purpose of the MMAs, deployed broadcast networks (i.e., American Forces Network Afghanistan) are not considered a part of DMA. These submissions must be made through ACC. All other deployed personnel will submit individual entries through their home stations and major commands. Unit awards for deployed locations will be submitted through ACC.

m. Guard or Reserve Airmen that also fill civilian PA positions. Guard or Reserve personnel who also fill a DAF civilian public affairs position are allowed to submit separate products done in their two different capacities. These personnel may not submit mixed products from military and civilian status to compete in a category. If the product is authored by TSgt XXX, that product is eligible for military categories only. The same rule applies for products created in a civilian status, personnel may not submit mixed products from military and civilian status.

n. Air Reserve Technicians. ARTs are eligible to submit products for the MMAs. All products must be entered in the correct categories based on the technician's status at the time of product publication. Technicians' status will be determined by the byline/author name of the original publication. If the product is authored by TSgt XXX, that product is eligible for military categories only. The same rule applies for products created in a civilian status. Technicians may not submit mixed products from military and civilian status to compete in any category.

o. Bands. All submissions to the music categories from Active Duty and Air National Guard Bands, to include the AFCENT Band and the Airmen assigned to the SHAPE International Band will be submitted directly to SAF/PAB. The SHAPE International Band is not eligible for the unit music awards.

f. Individuals who are not entering the Communicator of the Year category may enter more than one of the following categories: graphic designer, photographer, videographer or writer of the year.
