

Virtual Classroom (VCLASS)

A major advance in the JKO training and education is the introduction of a collaborative learning environment—JKO Virtual Classroom—JKO VCLASS. This advancement enables the addition of synchronous (i.e., instructor-in-the-loop) distributed and collaborative learning capability.

A collaborative, instructor-led learning environment provides a higher level of learning and assessment for online training and education necessary to promote critical and adaptive thinking in professional military leader development. It also meets the expectations of the growing majority of our training and education audience accustomed to this type of learning.

Some of the aspects of the virtual classroom include various types of learning activities such as lectures, homework, discussions, readings, assignments. Classes may be self-paced using online documents and resources. Other methods used may be live sessions, videoconferencing, discussions and sharing various applications. Individuals are able to access the materials any time they want under the instructor's control and are able to access anywhere online where they are able to access internet usage and military classified and unclassified networks with CAC or username/password login.

To explore VCLASS for your situation, click the VCLASS tab at the top of the page within JKO, then enter the classroom.
