

U.S. TREASURY INSPECTOR GENERAL FOR TAX ADMINISTRATION

About TIGTA

The Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration (TIGTA) was established in January 1999 in accordance with the Internal Revenue Service Restructuring and Reform Act of 1998 (RRA 98) to provide independent oversight of Internal Revenue Service (IRS) activities. As mandated by RRA 98, TIGTA assumed most of the responsibilities of the IRS's former Inspection Service. Although TIGTA is placed organizationally within the Treasury Department and reports to the Secretary of the Treasury and to Congress, it functions independently from all other offices and bureaus within the Treasury Department.

Audits. TIGTA's Office of Audit (OA) identifies opportunities to improve the administration of the nation's tax laws by conducting comprehensive, independent performance and financial audits of IRS programs, operations, and activities.

Inspections and Evaluations. TIGTA's Office of Inspections and Evaluations (OIE) provides a range of specialized services and products, including quick reaction reviews, onsite inspections, and in-depth evaluations of a major departmental function, activity, or program.

Investigations. TIGTA's Office of Investigations (OI) conducts investigations that proactively and reactively protect the Treasury Department's ability to collect revenue owed to the Federal Government. OI works to protect the integrity of the IRS and detect and prevent fraud and other misconduct within IRS programs. This includes investigating allegations of criminal violations and administrative misconduct by IRS employees, as well as protecting the IRS against external attempts to corrupt or threaten its employees.

Statutory Mandate

Protect against IRS employee improprieties and external attempts to corrupt or threaten IRS employees

Provide policy direction and conduct, supervise, and coordinate audits and investigations related to IRS programs and operations.
