National Police Association Accomplishments

Highlights of 2019 Thanks to the support of our generous donors, National Police Association (NPA) was in many instances the only voice in defense of law enforcement. The NPA filed a friend of the court brief in case number 1884CV03561, American Civil Liberties Union of Massachusetts Inc et al vs. Boston Police Department et al in Massachusetts Superior Court Suffolk County. The NPA opposed the ACLU's attack on law enforcement's ability to investigate street gangs, arguing to Massachusetts it should uphold the right of the Boston Police Department to maintain a confidential gang database. The NPA argued against the ACLU which claims in its suit against the Boston Police Department that including a suspected gang member in a confidential gang database is unfair to suspected gang members. The ACLU complains that suspected gang members who are added to the gang database are subject to investigation and if in the country illegally, deportation. The ACLU criticizes the Boston Police Department for considering such factors as associating with known gang members, proclaiming gang membership on Facebook, and flashing gang signs as criteria for determining whether a suspected gang member is a gang member. The ACLU seeks to open up the gang data base to the public. The NPA's brief argues that given the link between gang membership and violence, and the growing gang population, it is crucial that law enforcement is able to use every available modern technique and tool available to it. To be able to effectively allocate resources and develop programming to combat gang violence, a critical first step is to accurately estimate the magnitude and nature of a particular gang population. And to effectively prosecute gang-related crimes, which by their very nature are more difficult to prosecute, it is critical to understand the interconnected relationships and complex dynamics between rival gangs. Gang Unit investigators need to familiarize themselves with the dynamics of gangs, including, but not limited to their membership size, territory, local hangouts, rivalries, and types of crimes committed, as well as the identification and personal and criminal backgrounds of individual members. While the ACLU seemingly wants gang databases treated like credit reports open to the review of suspected gang members, it would obviously defeat the idea of intelligence gathering to notify the target that he or she has been identified by the investigators as a criminal threat. Many communities have policies consistent with the U.S. Department of Homeland Security definition of sanctuary cities even without the consent or knowledge of voters. NPA targeted sanctuary areas throughout the nation and contacted citizens living in such communities, alerting them to their area's sanctuary policies and the implications of these policies. * The National Police Association provided President Trump an analysis and recommendations of the Baltimore Police Consent Decree, a two hundred twenty-seven (227) page document with more than five hundred (500) articulated paragraphs of content, written by the Obama era Justice Department and forced upon Baltimore Patrol Officers concluding it is without exception a hammer being used by the City and the Court against the interests of officer safety, public safety, officer morale and law enforcement. As written and implemented the Consent Decree punishes Patrol Officers for proactive policing forcing them to merely respond to radio calls rather than to make traffic stops, interrogate suspicious persons, and investigate questionable circumstances. Violent crime is going up in Baltimore because the Consent Decree treats Baltimore Patrol Officers, not violent crime, as the problem. Treating law enforcement rather than criminals as the problem is a mistake of epic proportions by politicians and leaders that has had particularly disastrous consequences for the people of Baltimore and its Patrol Officers. While violent crime has went down nationally, in Baltimore with its handcuffed and short staffed Patrol Officers, violent crime has gone up. What a Baltimore Patrol Officer knows is if they question suspicious individuals loitering on a street corner, they will spend three times the time it takes to investigate doing dozens of pages of paperwork which will be reviewed twice over by a command structure that has been coerced into publicly shaming Patrol Officers who dare attempt to do their jobs. At least Patrol Officers don't have to worry about being criticized for hunting down a fleeing felon as that has been all but banned. And as officers have been prevented from enforcing the law either due to a lack of staffing or lack of resources or lack of support, or outrageous policies the most vulnerable residents of the City have suffered at the hands of violent crime the most. The report to President Trump requested that the President direct Attorney General William Barr to use the terms of the Consent Decree to enforce the City's obligations to provide the appropriate level of training, staffing and support to Patrol Officers using the funding provisions contained within the Consent Decree and the reserved authority explicitly provided DOJ by the Consent Decree. * The NPA reached out in an online campaign to request supporters of law enforcement contact the Ohio Parole Board to object to the granting of parole to a convicted cop killer. On April 5, 1986, Columbus, Ohio Officer Gordon Joe Rich was working a federal traffic enforcement detail. While on patrol he stopped a vehicle on Interstate 70 at State Route 315. James Lumpkin Rattler was removed from the car and attacked Officer Rich, gaining control of his gun and shooting him, leaving Officer Rich, a 23-year police veteran, mortally wounded. Rattler and the other occupant of the vehicle drove away and were able to briefly escape capture. Rich, 45, struggled back to his cruiser, got on the radio then collapsed. Investigators theorized that Rattler, who was wanted, had been placed under arrest and ordered to stand by the cruiser for a search when he grabbed the gun. Rattler avoided the death penalty by pleading guilty to aggravated murder. He is serving a life sentence in prison. Rattler would have been eligible for parole in February 2019. Subsequent to the NPA campaign his parole was denied. * The NPA reached out in an online campaign to request supporters of law enforcement sign a petition and contact the town of Elgin, IL requesting the reinstatement of Elgin Police Lt. Christian Jensen. Over the past two decades of public service, Elgin, IL Police Lt. Christian Jensen, has received 22 commendations and more than 70 letters of appreciation. He has served the people of Elgin as a SWAT team leader, and adviser to the Police Explorer program. In addition to uniform patrol he has served in the gang crimes unit and the narcotics unit. On March 12, 2018 DeCynthia Clements, after leading officers on a chase, initiated a standoff on the side of the highway. Officers attempted to negotiate with her for an hour. After finally agreeing to surrender she instead set her vehicle on fire, exited, and charged toward the officers with a knife in each hand. In defense of his life and the lives of others Lt. Jensen fired his duty weapon fatally wounding Clements. A medical examiner determined Clements had cocaine in her bloodstream. In the aftermath of the encounter Lt. Jensen was placed on administrative leave and was subjected to multiple investigations. An outside consulting firm, Hillard Heintze, found Jensen acted within use of force policies. The Cook County State's Attorney's office and Illinois State Police both previously found no grounds to file criminal charges against Jensen. Yet, his reinstatement was not certain. City Council members Corey Dixon and Tish Powell demanded he be fired. Police Chief Ana Lalley had yet to make a recommendation to City Manager Richard Kozal about whether Lt. Jensen should be fired or reinstated. Subsequent to the NPA's online campaign and delivery of its petition to reinstate Lt. Jensen was reinstated to active duty. * The NPA conducted online reward for information campaigns offering $5,000 rewards for information leading to the arrests and convictions of suspects in the shootings of and shooting at police officers in several states. * NPA provided cash grants to multiple Police Explorer and Cadet programs which educate youth in how to be of assistance to law enforcement and their communities. NPA also provided scholarships to students seeking to attain certification as police chaplains so as to be able to assist law enforcement and their communities. * The NPA reached scores of Americans with our message in support of our law enforcement officers through our 40,000 Facebook followers, our 60,000 Twitter followers, and those we reached through mail and the news media. Additionally, the NPA radio public service announcements aired on commercial stations throughout the country provided millions of listeners educational content on how they could help police departments accomplish their goals.
