Subject: Soliciting Comments on Updates to Graphical Flood Products in Alaska until March 17, 2023

The NWS is accepting public comments until March 17, 2023 on a proposal to update the 48 Hour River Flood Outlook Potential and the Significant River Flood Outlook graphical products in Alaska. For both products, the proposed product incorporates changes to the layout of the map and associated information, and changes to the map symbology. No changes are proposed to the information content.

The current and proposed 48 Hour products are shown here:

<https://www.weather.gov/aprfc/48hourprototype>

The current and proposed 5-day Flood Outlook products are shown here:

<https://www.weather.gov/aprfc/5dayprototype>

A Service Change Notice (SCN) will be sent before updating these products.

Please submit comments regarding the proposal to update these products to:
