

For Official Release
PR 001-05082023
Office of the Governor
Utulei, American Samoa
May 8, 2023

Honorable Governor & First Lady dedicates a day of recreational pursuits for the Young Ambassadors of American Samoa

In an endeavor to interact with the youth and express gratitude for their exceptional performance at the USA Select Summit, Governor Lemanu P. S. Mauga devoted a full day of recreational pursuits for the Young Ambassadors of American Samoa.

The young ambassadors group, accompanied by their chaperones, were invited to embark on a refreshing early morning hike at the breathtaking Makapu'u heights. Before commencing their adventure-filled day after the hike, they had breakfast at the Hale Koa buffet. To conclude this memorable journey immersed in Polynesian culture and heritage, they spent the evening experiencing captivating performances and engaging activities at the Polynesian Cultural Center.

The Honorable Governor P. S. Lemanu and First Lady Ella assumed a nurturing role towards the students who are miles apart from their families back home. Governor underscored the significance of prioritizing American Samoa's youth, recognizing them as prospective leaders of our community.

The Governor and the American Samoa delegation's journey to Washington, D.C. commenced with a religious service, which culminated in a similar fashion upon return. The A.S. delegation attended the EFKAS Kanana Fou Auina - Hawaii church on Sunday May 7, 2023 with Rev. Elder Falelua Lafitaga as leading pastor of the church.

###

Honorable Governor Lemanu P. S. Mauga, First Lady Ella Mauga, Chaplain Mageo Patolo Mageo, and the Young Ambassadors of American Samoa.

GO staff passing out water and treats for the hiking party.

Young Ambassador of American Samoa breakfast at Hale Koa buffet.

Young Ambassadors of American Samoa at the Polynesian Cultural Center. Honorable Governor's treat to the students and chaperones.