

DoD Visual Information Schedule EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

SUBJECT: Request for Records Disposition Authority, Records Schedule: DAA-0330-2013-0014

BACKGROUND: The VI Records Schedule provides specific disposition for types of VI records and what should be transferred to the National Archives. DoD Visual information (DoD VI) is either a permanent or a temporary record. Permanent records provide important documentation of the DoD, including its combat and non-combat activities, and capture significant information. These permanent records have high-potential research \ value. Temporary records do not provide significant documentation of DoD activities because they are duplicative, excessive in coverage, lacking in metadata, or relating to routine subjects. These temporary records have little or no research value or the significant information is captured elsewhere in permanent VI records. The below table provides a quick look of the record types. However, the Records Schedule should be referred to for more detail.

SUMMARY:

Permanent Records	Temporary Records
Significant still, motion, audio recording combat VI DoD VI that documents various types of events and activities related to (including pre- and post-) combat operations, missions, and engagements with an enemy within a joint or non-joint (service specific) environment and/or terrorism attacks, events, or acts
